

ABSTRACT

[0059] Improved materials for use in the fabrication of electronic devices and devices made therewith are described. The materials comprise fillers having a negative coefficient of thermal expansion.